Workshops

March/April

May/June

July/August

and

With Vanessa Hutchinson

In October/November

WORKSHOP DESCRIPTION

THE WORKSHOPS:

Life provides many challenges, and also possibilities, which are ours if we have the courage to take them. These four workshops provide opportunities to develop new roles, and new perspectives, to acknowledge, celebrate and value old roles, to clear obstacles and resolve minor conflicts of living in your personal or professional life. They will suit anyone who wants to explore and enter into the deeper aspects of self with the aim of developing greater resilience, vitality and more effective relationships with themselves and others. The aim of self-development is to be able to live life creatively, spontaneously and with a greater vision.

Maximum number in group: 8

THE LEADERS:

Sue Daniel is a Psychodramatist (TEP), psychologist and individual and group psychotherapist working in private practice with individuals, couples and families, and the Director of the Psychodrama Institute of Melbourne.

Vanessa Hutchinson is an advanced trainee of psychodrama, who has been applying psychodrama in her work as a language teacher and in personal development groups. She will lead the October/November series.
